

Instructions for Submitting Homework
IPSJ Technical Writing Seminar
(November 11, 2018)

I. Content

The document you submit should be written in the form of a technical/academic paper, although greatly reduced in volume for practical use in this course (see “Distribution” below). The size limit of the submission is 600 words (a little bit more is OK).

II. Field/Topic

The paper you submit should be in your own field of study or work. It can be a revision of a paper you have already published or one you hope to publish in the future.

III. Distribution of Paper’s Sections

Arrange your content roughly into the following sections:

- a. Abstract (100~150 words)
- b. Introduction (150~200 words)
- c. Methods and/or Results (150~200 Words)
- d. Conclusions (100~150 words)
(total text: 550~650 words)
- e. Figures – graphic representation supporting your paper’s content
(a separate PowerPoint, PDF or JPG file; use a full A4-sized area; be sure to name the file according to IV. b. below)

IV. Formatting

- a. MS Word (either .doc or .docx file is OK)
- b. File name: include your name in romaji, first initial, “IPSJ-18-11”
(example for Mariko Okawa: “OkawaM-IPSJ-18-11.docx/.pptx/.pdf/.jpg”)
- c. Use only 1-byte romaji fonts like Times New Roman, Arial, Century, etc., not 2-byte fonts like MS ゴシック (except for such uses as sample sentences in Japanese language processing)
- d. Keep all margins at least 2.5 cm
- e. Use clear section titles (e.g. “Abstract”)

V. Deadline for Submission

Sunday, October 28, 2018

VI. Documents Returned to Trainees

- a. Corrected versions of submitted papers, with instructor comments
- b. Fully corrected version of “Clinic Worksheet” analyzed in class
